A black and white close-up photograph of a young man, identified as Lieutenant Joshua Ward, in 18th-century military uniform. He is wearing a dark bicorne hat with a circular emblem on the front and a large, powdered white wig. His expression is neutral as he looks slightly to the right. He is wearing a dark coat with a prominent white collar. In the background, other soldiers in similar uniforms are visible, some holding long wooden poles or rifles. The text "Joshua Ward, lieutenant, armée britannique." is overlaid in yellow at the bottom of the image.
